The difference between Manual Bid and Automatic Bid

Manual Bid : Input your bidding price directly. During a tender period, you may update/input your bidding price manually at any time.

Automatic Bid : Input your desired minimum price (Target Price). During a tender period, the system will map your bidding price with the current lowest price at any time. If there's a new offer, the system will increase the current lowest price with the minimum increment and map the prices again.

 Attention : No matter what kind of bidding type you choose, your price must be lower than the lowest price at this moment.

Rules and Regulation

1. Before the date set for the tender, each prospective bidder will be required to register. Once the membership is verified, each bidder will receive the Invitation for Bids prior to the actual commencement of the online tender.
2. In the test mode, the bidding time is open for three minutes. In official FCC E-Tender system, the bidding time is open for sixty minutes (thirty minutes for each round).
3. We take "first come first serve" principle when same quotation is submitted by different bidders.
4. Once technical problems in FCC E-Tender system occur, the processing tender will be suspended and re-opened after the system returns to normal. The close date and time of the tender is posted on the e-tender page. The tender will close at the posted closing time. Foodchina Company reserves the right, at its sole discretion, to close an auction early, or extend the close date or time in the event of technical difficulties.
5. The reference number of the winning bidder shall be shown on the Tender Detail upon confirmation of a winning bid has taken place.
